

Michelle Glenn CFRE is Senior Executive Director of Advancement for the main campus at the University of Utah, a position she has held since July 2022. In this role, she manages the dual-reporting relationships for development directors in colleges and areas across the university on the main campus, collaborating closely with deans, directors and fundraising teams in the University Advancement office. Prior to joining Utah, Michelle spent eight years at the University of Oregon in various positions, including as Director of Development for the School of Music and Dance. Michelle has more than 25 years fundraising experience, with 16 of those in higher education. She earned a B.A. in Economics from the University of California, San Diego.